Gaining Ground : Building Community on Dudley Street

by Bill Cody & Matthew Robison (Movie on Kanopy)

A documentary that explores the innovative, grassroots organizing efforts of the Dudley Street Neighborhood Initiative (DSNI) in Boston. DSNI was created 25 years ago when the community had been devastated by bank redlining, arson-for-profit and illegal dumping, and has become one of the preeminent models for community-based change.

Beverly Buchanan Marsh Ruins

by Amelia Groom
(ebook on Overdrive)

Beverly Buchanan's Marsh Ruins (1981) are large, solid mounds of cement and shell-based tabby concrete, yet their presence has always been elusive. Hiding in the tall grasses and brackish waters of the Marshes of Glynn, on the southeast coast of Georgia, the Marsh Ruins merge with their surroundings as they enact a curious and delicate tension between destruction and endurance. This volume offers an illustrated examination of Buchanan's environmental sculpture, which exists in an ongoing state of ruination.

Fire on the Water

by Scott MacGregor
(eBook on Overdrive)

As historical fiction, Fire on the Water sheds light not only on one of America's earliest man-made ecological disasters but also on racism and the economic disparity between classes in the Midwest at the turn of the century. This book tells the story of desperate immigrants tunneling beneath Lake Erie, and corrupt overseers who risk countless lives for profit.

Urban Ecology: A Natural Way to Transform Kids, Parks, Cities, and the World

by Ken Leinbach
(ebook on Hoopla)

This title will help readers discover the power of getting a city kid outside in nature; that kindness does work; how to say no while following the yes; the value of clarity and focus; and how to find abundance within their own diverse community by simply and humbly asking for help. This book provides rules for raising money while having a ton of fun doing it; a positive, believable, and very real vision for the future of the environment!

An Ocklawaha River Odyssey

by Elizabeth Randall (ebook on Hoopla)

Photojournalists Bob and Liz Randall spent two years exploring Florida's ancient and enchanting Ocklawaha River. Their journey provides an inside look at the rich recreational resources of the river, its wildlife and the people, past and present, who contributed to its history and welfare. Along the way, they met artists, environmentalists, captains, and local descendants whose lives are inextricably intertwined with the prehistoric river.

Chattooga

by John Lane
(eBook on Hoopla)

This book tells the story of the Chattooga, a river featured in the movie Deliverance. Starting at its headwaters, Lane leads us down the river and through its complex history to its current status as a National Wild and Scenic River. Along the way he stops for talks with conservation activists, seventh-generation residents, locals who played parts in the movie Deliverance, day visitors, and others.
